

$2,000,000 LOSS IN PITTSBURGH FIRE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 27.—With an estimated loss of more than $2,000,000, one of the most disastrous fires in the history of the city, which swept through Fifth avenue in the downtown shopping district, was still burning early today although firemen believed it would spread no further. The following large establishments were destroyed: McGrory 5 and 10 cent store, complete loss. Frank and Seder, drygoods, complete loss. Grand Theatre Building, including Davis Arcade and Restaurant, Grand and Olympic Theatres.

Beside these establishments numerous shops, offices, several dental parlors and stores in the block were burned. The fire started at 1:58 o'clock this morning. It was discovered by a night watchman of the McGrory store, who turned in the first alarm. As the flames gained headway, feeling on tinder-like stocks and finding but slight resistance in walls of the old buildings in the block, a second, third and fourth alarms were sounded, calling out every available piece of fire fighting equipment in Pittsburgh. Even these, with the combined effort of firemen, had not brought the fire under full control six hours later.

Nearly 50 firemen were injured by flying debris but seriously. Police reserves kept back the huge crowd. The fire lines were drawn a block away from the fire zone and thousands of girls and women employed in the burned department stores.

The presence of a large quantity of moving picture films stored in the Grand Opera House building added danger to the fighting of the flames and caused several pyrotechnical displays as they exploded. A large ammonia tank in the basement of this building also exploded.

To prevent the flames spreading across Smithfield street where other large department stores are located, firemen dynamited the ruins of the Frank and Seder department store.

A ten-minute delay in locating the source of the fire was one of the elements which probably contributed much to its spread. When the first firemen reached the scene smoke was issuing from the fifth avenue entrance to the Frank and Seder store. Lines of hose were run into the store and firemen tried vainly to find the flames. When they had been in the establishment for several minutes it was found that the smoke was coming from the basement of the McGrory store. The delay was fatal. By the time water was turned on into the McGrory basement, it was a roaring volcano.

First the McGrory store went. Then came the Frank and Seder establishment. Frank and Seder's walls fell in as did McGrory's. The roof of the Grand Opera House crashed in shortly before 5 o'clock. Streams of water were turned into the furnace of flame from three streets—Fifth avenue, Smithfield and Diamond streets. Walls toppled into the streets. Roofs fell with resounding roars. Blasts of smoke from back-draughts kept the firemen at the entrances to the buildings, making entry to them impossible.

All that saved the downtown district, adjoining blocks and others distant, was an almost complete absence of wind in the streets.

AUTOS RACE TO RED FLAG.

Fishing Through Ice Furnishes a New Sport.

The fishermen who have been trying their luck at Green Lake this week found the ice half a yard thick and while it was difficult work to cut through for the tip-ups those who had automobiles found the thick ice an advantage for they were able to cover the ground or rather the ice by automobile. When a red flag went up far down the lake all they had to do was to jump in the car and whizz off down the lake. C. J. Hammer, J. B. Holdridge and William Toothill brought home ten good sized pickerel as the result of their day's fishing. The Rev. J. A. Dykstra also had good luck and landed half a dozen big fish. —Catskill Mail.

SURGICAL EXPERTS IN WEBER TRIAL

They Explain the Fractures of the Skull and Their Effect on Elmen-dorf—Treatment of the Patient Described.

Testimony of medical experts consumed the greater part of Friday in the case of The People against Joseph Weber, charged with causing the death of Charles Elmen-dorf in August of the past year.

Dr. Snyder, who attended Elmen-dorf while he was at the Benedictine Sanitarium, was recalled to the stand on Friday afternoon and testified that he was present at the autopsy performed at the undertaking parlors of W. N. Conner and could identify the skull cap which was removed at the time and reserved.

District Attorney Traver offered the skull cap in evidence and it was objected to by Mr. Brooks. Objection overruled and the skull cap, consisting of the top of the skull which had been removed in a cup like piece, was produced.

Dr. Snyder testified that the skull cap had been taken in charge by Dr. Van Hovenberg after it had been removed and was in the same condition as at present.

Dr. Snyder explained that the triangular hole in the skull was where the depressed fracture had been and two other openings were made by the doctors in treating the patient. The doctor indicated the fractures on the skull, one of them running entirely over the top of the head and practically from temple to temple. The brain itself, Dr. Snyder said, had been lacerated and there were hemorrhages within the brain itself which had caused the paralysis and no method known at present to surgeons could be used to relieve the patient.

When the brain had been removed at the autopsy an examination showed an accumulation of blood within the skull cap but it did not form pressure enough to cause paralysis on the left side. At this point the doctor explained that a clot of blood on the right side would cause paralysis on the opposite or left side while a clot of blood pressing on the brain on the left side would cause paralysis on the right side. As the paralysis in Elmen-dorf's case was on the right side it indicated a clot on the left side and for this reason the hole was made in the skull on that side. The different fractures were pointed out.

On cross examination by Mr. Brooks the doctor explained how the bones were joined and where the joints were. The examination at the Sanitarium by Dr. Snyder had consumed but a few minutes and the operation had been performed within fifteen minutes after the arrival of Dr. Snyder.

Re-direct examination by Mr. Traver brought out the fact that it was impossible to tell the full extent of the fractures at the time of operating and not until after the autopsy had the extent of the injuries been known. The doctor further stated that in view of the patient's condition it would not have been good surgery to attempt to enlarge the wounds and submit the patient to any further examination at the time in order to ascertain the full extent of the fractures.

Dr. Henry Van Hovenberg, who performed the autopsy with Dr. Sanderson, was called. He has been practicing medicine since 1872 and has treated many fracture cases during his experience. Dr. Van Hovenberg described the performing of the autopsy in detail and stated that after the autopsy they found that all of the vital organs with the exception of the brain were in normal condition. The brain proper had been lacerated and in several places showed blood clots indicating hemorrhages. While paralysis had been caused by a laceration of the brain proper and in the doctor's opinion there was no help for the paralysis as the cause was deep down in the brain and any attempt to remove the cause would destroy the brain cells and once they were destroyed this condition would result in paralysis. So it was of no use to do so as the same condition would be brought on by an operation as existed before. Dr. Van Hovenberg in his external examination found in all 10 cuts on the head, some of which had healed up during the time Elmen-dorf had been in the hospital.

"What was the cause of death, doctor?" said Mr. Traver.

"Death was due to a laceration of the brain followed by hemorrhage." On cross examination Mr. Brooks endeavored to show that Dr. Van Hovenberg had been called on many cases similar to this and the doctor, according to his best judgment, estimated that he had testified for The People in similar cases at least 40 times.

"How much do you charge for this work?" asked Mr. Brooks.

The question was objected to and the objection sustained. Attempts to put the question in different manner were objected to and sustained and the doctor did not testify as to how much he received for his services.

On re-direct examination Dr. Van Hovenberg stated that there were two lacerations of the brain either one sufficient to cause death.

Dr. Raymond Sanderson, former county bacteriologist, and now occupying the position of pathologist at Vassar Brothers' Hospital in Poughkeepsie, and one of the doctors who performed the autopsy, was called.

Since leaving school in 1910 Dr. Sanderson had specialized in pathology and did so at school. After

PRINCE & PRINCESS YUSSUPOFF.

RUSSIAN NOBLEMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER OF CZAR'S "MYSTIC MONK."

After the murder of Rasputin, the famous (or infamous) Russian monk, whose influence at the Russian court is said to have been enormous, Prince Felix Yussupoff suddenly disappeared and only recently has been located on his father's vast estates in Crimea. In spite of accusations that he was the ringleader in the plot which brought about the killing of the "Mystic Monk," he still remains there in seclusion.

Prince Felix is twenty-nine years old and the son of Count Soumarokoff-Elston, who married the Princess Yussupoff in 1882, and by special decree of Alexander III, assumed the title of Prince Yussupoff. The elder Prince Yussupoff was the Governor of Petrograd and is considered Russia's most powerful man, next to the Czar.

making an external examination of the body on August 23, the doctor explained the methods of performing an autopsy and his testimony was practically the same as Dr. Van Hovenberg's. Dr. Sanderson also testified that the injury was too deep in the brain to be relieved by any operation and he also found two injuries any one of which he thought was sufficient to cause death.

The cause of death he found was due to degeneration of brain tissue, due to lacerations and hemorrhages following some external force being applied to the brain.

On cross-examination by Mr. Brooks the doctor stated that he had specialized in pathology while in school and also after leaving school.

"Has pathology got anything to do with bugs?" asked Mr. Brooks.

"And the doctor answered, 'No.' The doctor also stated that he had been engaged as bacteriologist and pathologist of Ontario and Yates counties before coming to Kingston.

On re-direct examination the doctor testified that the methods followed in treating the case was the usual methods in similar cases.

The last witness called was County Superintendent of Highways John F. Loughran, who had prepared a map showing the location of Snyder avenue, Howland avenue and locating the houses and buildings in the neighborhood.

Mr. Loughran was qualified as a surveyor and engineer and stated that he had been employed as a surveyor for the State Geologist at Albany and for three years had been engaged as surveyor for the Ontario & Western Railroad. The map made by Mr. Loughran was admitted in evidence and during the afternoon Mr. Loughran pointed out to the jury the scene of the crime and the location of the buildings in a very thorough and interesting manner.

From the map the jurors are able to get a very accurate idea of the neighborhood where the alleged murder was committed.

On the corner of Snyder and Howland avenue is the Weber house, while 39 1/2 feet down Snyder and adjoining is the Elmen-dorf house. The two houses are separated by an open lot and the two properties are divided by a wire fence.

Various distances were laid down by Mr. Loughran and the ground distances and slope of the land explained to the jurors.

At the conclusion of the testimony of Mr. Loughran the court took an adjournment until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the case will be taken up again. On Monday some of the eye witnesses will be placed on the stand.

The jurors were taken in charge by court officers and will be kept at the Styvessant until the close of the case. They will not be allowed to go home over Sunday.

FORCIBLE FEEDING FOR MRS. BYRNE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Ethel Byrne, birth control propagandist, collapsed in her cell at Blackwell's Island Hospital early today and was forcibly fed by the medical attendants. Weakened by her five and a half days of fasting, she was unable to resist.

Mrs. Byrne collapsed before day-break after a sleepless night and Dr. James P. Hunt was hurriedly summoned. Under his direction a tube was inserted in Mrs. Byrne's mouth and nourishing liquid food was administered. She was then put to bed.

Artificial feeding will be continued, according to Commissioner of Correction Lewis, until Mrs. Byrne consents to take nourishment voluntarily. The first effort to feed her forcibly followed a warning by Dr. Irma Howard, Mrs. Byrne's attendant.

BRITAIN GREAT BAR TO PEACE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 27.—Only one great bar to the realization of the president's plan for the preservation of world peace will prevent, or at least delay, its realization. In official circles today it was stated that England alone of all the belligerents will prove the big stumbling block.

Russia's endorsement of the plan, reported unofficially to Washington, will have a tremendous effect, it is finally believed. Officials here refuse to commit themselves fully until they learn through Ambassador Francis exactly the position of the Russian government and the feeling in Petrograd. It is believed, though, that the unofficial word received is accurate in substance.

Confidential diplomatic dispatches from other warring capitals, with the exception of London, have given great encouragement to the administration. The feeling was gaining ground in diplomatic circles today that France would follow within a week the lead set by Russia.

Meanwhile, the threatening embarrassment to the plan from domestic sources has been postponed. It is unlikely that the senate will resume discussion of any of the resolutions pending there, having to do with the president's plan, for a week at least.

JEWS TO HOLD MASS MEETING

Sunday Afternoon at Agudas Achim Synagogue to Raise Money for War Sufferers—Prominent Men to Speak.

The Jews in Kingston are planning to hold a big mass meeting Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the synagogue of Congregation Agudas Achim on West Union street for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of the war sufferers in Europe. Among the prominent speakers who will address the meeting are Principal Joseph M. Margolin of the Hebrew Free School, and the Rev. Mr. Miller and others. All Jewish organizations, societies, lodges and congregations are urged to attend the mass meeting and contribute as liberally as possible.

Mass meetings similar in character are being held all over the United States by the people of Jewish faith for the purpose of raising funds. It is hoped that a large sum will be realized in Kingston on Sunday afternoon.

ALLIES' BLOCKADE STARVING GREECE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Jan. 27.—The food situation in Greece occasioned by the Allied blockade is rapidly becoming acute, says an Athens despatch to the Chronicle.

Bread is now being made entirely of rye, the supplies of wheat being exhausted. Some maize is being received from Thessaly. The blockade has been in effect 54 days.

The bread ration was reduced on Tuesday to conserve the scanty grain supplies. In the hotels one slice of bread is sent to each guest. In his room, if he desires bread with his meal he must take this slice to the dining room as none was served there or in restaurants. A delayed despatch from Athens states that the American minister, Garrett Dropers, has promised to use his influence with the allied diplomats for a lifting of the blockade. M. Lambros, Greek premier, appealed to Mr. Dropers for his assistance to relieve the suffering of his people.

1,000 KILLED IN DRESDEN ARSENAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, Jan. 27.—One thousand women and young girls, munition workers, were killed and the Dresden Arsenal completely destroyed by an explosion, says a letter dated December 30, and taken from a German soldier.

Authorities have kept the news of the explosion a secret, the writer said in the letter sent from Dresden. He also declared that railroad tickets were not being issued for Dresden except in most pressing cases. Windows were shattered for a radius of 12 miles about the arsenal, the letter declared.

PEACE RUMORS PUT WHEAT ON TOBOGGAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, Jan. 27.—Wheat dropped about four cents from yesterday's close today as the result of rumors that the Kaiser would inaugurate a new peace move. May dropped to below $1.77, the lowest level in several weeks. Other grains also fell on heavy selling.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 27.—Expectations that some new peace propositions would come from the German emperor today were used as incentives for general offerings of stocks at concessions at the opening today. Nearly all the important issues sustained losses ranging from one to two points in the first few minutes, but a good demand was met at the low levels and at the end of the first half hour's trading rally rallies were in order. Marine Common declined two points to 29 and the preferred two points to 84 1/2. General Motor dropped 3 1/2 points to 118 1/2, and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies 1 1/2 to 118 1/2. The copper shares were fairly well held with Utah Copper declining 1/2 to 106 1/2, and American Smelting 1/2 to 107 1/2. The railway issues generally showed fractional losses. The market closed irregular. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong. Another selling movement caused recessions in a number of issues in the last hour. Minneapolis and St. Louis continued strong, moving up to 32. Steel Common rallied slightly in the final dealings.

$2,000,000 LOSS IN PITTSBURGH FIRE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 27.—With an estimated loss of more than $2,000,000, one of the most disastrous fires in the history of the city, which swept through Fifth avenue in the downtown shopping district, was still burning early today although firemen believed it would spread no further. The following large establishments were destroyed: McGroarty 5 and 10 cent store, complete loss. Frank and Seder, drygoods, complete loss. Grand Theatre Building, including Davis Arcade and Restaurant, Grand and Olympic Theatres.

It was discovered by a night watchman of the McGroarty store, who turned in the first alarm. As the flames gained headway, feeding on timber-like stocks and flammable but slight resistance in walls of the old buildings in the block, a second, third and fourth alarms were sounded, calling out every available piece of fire fighting equipment in Pittsburgh. Even these, with the combined effort of firemen, had not brought the fire under full control six hours later.

Nearly 50 firemen were injured by flying debris but none seriously. Fire reserves kept back the huge crowd. The fire lines were drawn a block away from the fire zone and thousands surged about them, including hundreds of girls and women employed in the burned department stores.

The benefit performance to be given at the Orpheum Theatre Sunday evening, January 28, to provide funds for relief work of the Loyal Friends' Aid Society, promises to prove a big success. The program is made up of several excellent numbers besides a six reel Fox masterpiece entitled "The Fool's Revenge," which is classed among the very best that has been produced in these days of artistic movie productions. Besides other entertaining features the chief interest centers around the Moving Pictures, a production for which great preparation has been made, entitled "The Development of the American Girl," in which fifteen young lady members of the society are to pose. The performance will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will be over at 10:30. By your attendance you can assist in promoting a helpful organization and at the same time enjoy a pleasant evening.

SURGICAL EXPERTS IN WEBER TRIAL

They Explain the Fractures of the Skull and Their Effect on Elmenendorf—Treatment of the Patient Described.

Testimony of medical experts consumed the greater part of Friday in the case of The People against Joseph Weber, charged with causing the death of Charles Elmenendorf in August of the past year.

Dr. Snyder, who attended Elmenendorf while he was at the Benedictine Sanitarium, was recalled to the stand on Friday afternoon and testified that he was present at the autopsy performed at the undertaking parlors of W. N. Conner and could identify the skull cap which was removed at the time and preserved.

District Attorney Traver offered the skull cap in evidence and it was objected to by Mr. Brooks. Objection overruled and the skull cap, consisting of the top of the skull which had been removed in a cup like piece, was produced.

Dr. Snyder testified that the skull cap had been taken in charge by Dr. Van Hoesenberg after it had been removed and was in the same condition as at present.

Dr. Snyder explained that the triangular hole in the skull was where the depression fracture had been and two other openings were made by the doctors in treating the patient. The doctor indicated the fractures on the skull, one of them running entirely over the top of the head and practically from temple to temple. The brain itself, Dr. Snyder said had been lacerated and there were hemorrhages within the brain itself which had caused the paralysis and no method known at present to surgeons could be used to relieve the patient.

When the brain had been removed at the autopsy an examination showed an accumulation of blood within the skull but it did not form pressure enough to cause paralysis on the left side. At this point the doctor explained that a clot of blood on the right side would cause paralysis on the opposite or left side while a clot of blood pressing on the brain on the left side would cause paralysis on the right side. As the paralysis in Elmenendorf's case was on the right side it indicated a clot on the left side and for this reason the hole was made in the skull on that side. The different fractures were pointed out.

On cross examination by Mr. Brooks the doctor explained how the bones were joined and where the joints were. An examination at the Sanitarium by Dr. Snyder had consumed but a few minutes and the operation had been performed within fifteen minutes after the arrival of Dr. Snyder.

Re-direct examination by Mr. Traver brought out the fact that it was impossible to tell the full extent of the fractures at the time of operation and not until after the autopsy had the extent of the injuries been known. The doctor further stated that in view of the patient's condition it would not have been good surgery to attempt to enlarge the wounds and submit the patient to any further examination at the time in order to ascertain the full extent of the fractures.

Dr. Henry Van Hoesenberg, who performed the autopsy with Dr. Sanderson, was called. He has been practicing medicine since 1872 and has treated many fracture cases during his experience. Dr. Van Hoesenberg described the performing of the autopsy in detail and stated that after the autopsy they found that all of the vital organs with the exception of the brain were in normal condition. The brain proper had been lacerated and in several places showed blood clots indicating hemorrhages. The paralysis had been caused by a laceration of the brain proper and in the doctor's opinion there was no help for the paralysis as the cause was deep down in the brain and any attempt to remove the cause would destroy the brain cells and once they were destroyed this condition would result in paralysis so it was of no use to do so as the same condition would be brought on by an operation as existed before. Dr. Van Hoesenberg in his external examination found in all 10 cuts on the head, some of which had healed up during the time Elmenendorf had been in the hospital.

"What was the cause of death, doctor?" said Mr. Traver.

"Death was due to a laceration of the brain followed by hemorrhage." On cross examination Mr. Brooks endeavored to show that Dr. Van Hoesenberg had been called on many cases similar to this and the doctor, according to his best judgment, estimated that he had testified for The People in similar cases at least 40 times.

"How much do you charge for this work?" asked Mr. Brooks.

The question was objected to and the objection sustained. Attempts to put the question in different manner were objected to and sustained and the doctor did not testify as to how much he received for his services.

On re-direct examination Dr. Van Hoesenberg stated that there were two lacerations of the brain either one sufficient to cause death.

Dr. Raymond Sanderson, former county bacteriologist, and now occupying the position of pathologist at Vassar Brothers' Hospital in Poughkeepsie, and one of the doctors who performed the autopsy, was called.

Since leaving school in 1910 Dr. Sanderson had specialized in pathology and did so at school. After

PRINCE & PRINCESS YUSSUPOFF.

RUSSIAN NOBLEMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER OF CZAR'S "MYSTIC MONK"

(Prince and Princess Yussupoff)
After the murder of Rasputin, the famous (or infamous) Russian monk, whose influence at the Russian court is said to have been enormous, Prince Felix Yussupoff suddenly disappeared and only recently has been located on his father's vast estates in Crimea. In spite of accusations that he was the ringleader in the plot which brought about the killing of the "Mystic Monk," he still remains there in seclusion.

Prince Felix is twenty-nine years old and the son of Count Soumarokoff-Elston, who married the Princess Yussupoff in 1882, and, by special decree of Alexander III, assumed the title of Prince Yussupoff. The elder Prince Yussupoff was the Governor of Petrograd and is considered Russia's most powerful man, next to the Czar.

making an external examination of the body on August 23, the doctor explained the methods of performing an autopsy and his testimony was practically the same as Dr. Van Hoesenberg's. Dr. Sanderson also testified that the injury was too deep in the brain to be relieved by any operation and he also found two injuries any one of which he thought was sufficient to cause death.

The cause of death he found was due to degeneration of brain tissue, due to lacerations and hemorrhages following some external force being applied to the brain.

On cross-examination by Mr. Brooks the doctor stated that he had specialized in pathology while in school and also after leaving school.

"Has pathology got anything to do with bugs?" asked Mr. Brooks.

"And the doctor answered, 'No.'"

The doctor also stated that he had been engaged as bacteriologist and pathologist of Ontario and Yates counties before coming to Kingston.

On re-direct examination the doctor testified that the method followed in treating the case was the usual methods in similar cases.

The last witness called was County Superintendent of Highways John F. Loughran, who had prepared a map showing the location of Snyder avenue, Howard avenue and locating the houses and buildings in the neighborhood.

Mr. Loughran was qualified as a surveyor and engineer and stated that he had been employed as surveyor for the State Geologist as Albany and for three years had been engaged as surveyor for the Ontario and Western Railroad. The map made by Mr. Loughran was admitted in evidence and during the afternoon Mr. Loughran pointed out to the jury the scene of the crime and the location of the buildings in a very thorough and interesting manner.

From the map the jurors are able to get a very accurate idea of the neighborhood where the alleged murder was committed.

On the corner of Snyder and Howard avenue is the Weber house, while 23 1/2 feet down Snyder and adjoining is the Elmenendorf house. The two houses are separated by an open lot and the two properties are divided by a wire fence.

Various distances were laid down by Mr. Loughran and the ground distances and slope of the land explained to the jurors.

At the conclusion of the testimony of Mr. Loughran the court took an adjournment until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the case will be taken up again. On Monday some of the eye witnesses will be placed on the stand.

The jurors were taken in charge by court officers and will be kept at the Stuyvesant until the close of the case. They will not be allowed to go home over Sunday.

FORCIBLE FEEDING FOR MRS. BYRNE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Ethel Byrne, birth control propagandist, collapsed to her cell at Blackwell's Island Hospital early today and was forcibly fed by the medical attendants. Weakened by her five and a half days of fasting, she was unable to resist.

Mrs. Byrne collapsed before day-break after a sleepless night and Dr. James P. Hunt was hurriedly summoned. Under his direction a tube was inserted in Mrs. Byrne's mouth and nourishing liquid food was administered. She was then put to bed.

Artificial feeding will be continued, according to Commissioner of Correction Lewis, until Mrs. Byrne consents to take nourishment voluntarily. The first effort to feed her forcibly followed a warning by Dr. Irma Howard, Mrs. Byrne's attendant.

BRITAIN GREAT BAR TO PEACE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Only one great bar to the realization of the president's plan for the preservation of world peace will prevent, or at least delay, its realization. In official circles today it was stated that Fuggand alone of all the belligerents will prove the big stumbling block.

Russia's endorsement of the plan, reported unofficially to Washington, will have a tremendous effect. It is firmly believed. Officials here refuse to commit themselves fully until they learn through Ambassador Francis exactly the position of the Russian government and the feeling in Petrograd. It is believed, though, that the unofficial word received is accurate in substance.

Confidential diplomatic dispatches from other warring capitals, with the exception of London, have given great encouragement to the administration. The feeling was gaining ground in diplomatic circles today that France would follow within a week the lead set by Russia.

Meanwhile, the threatening embarrasment to the plan from domestic sources has been postponed. It is unlikely that the senate will resume discussion of any of the resolutions pending there, having to do with the president's plan, for a week at least.

JEWS TO HOLD MASS MEETING

Sunday Afternoon at Agudas Achim Synagogue to Raise Money for War Sufferers—Prominent Men to Speak.

The Jews in Kingston are planning to hold a big mass meeting Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the synagogue of Congregation Agudas Achim on West Union street for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of the war sufferers in Europe. Among the prominent speakers who will address the meeting are Principal Joseph A. Margulies of the Hebrew Free School, and the Rev. Mr. Miller and others. All Jewish organizations, societies, lodges and congregations are urged to attend the mass meeting and contribute as liberally as possible.

Mass meetings similar in character are being held all over the United States by the people of Jewish faith for the purpose of raising funds. It is hoped that a large sum will be realized in Kingston on Sunday afternoon.

ALLIES' BLOCKADE STARVING GREECE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 27.—The food situation in Greece occasioned by the Allied blockade is rapidly becoming acute, says an Athens despatch to the Chronicle.

Bread is now being made entirely of rice, the supplies of wheat being exhausted. Some maize is being received from Thessaly. The blockade has been in effect 54 days. The bread ration was reduced on Tuesday to conserve the scanty grain supplies. In the hotels one slice of bread is sent to each guest in his room. If he desires bread with his meal he must take this slice to the dining room as none was served there or in restaurants.

A delayed despatch from Athens states that the American minister, Garrett Dropers, has promised to use his influence with the allied diplomats for a lifting of the blockade. Mr. Lambros, Greek premier, appealed to Mr. Dropers for his assistance to relieve the suffering of his people.

1,000 KILLED IN DRESDEN ARSENAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Jan. 27.—One thousand women and young girls, munition workers, were killed and the Dresden Arsenal completely destroyed by an explosion, says a letter dated December 30, and taken from a German soldier.

Authorities have kept the news of the explosion a secret, the writer said in the letter sent from Dresden. He also declared that railroad tickets were not being issued for Dresden except in most pressing cases. Windows were shattered for a radius of 12 miles about the arsenal the letter declared.

PEACE RUMORS PUT WHEAT ON TOBOGGAN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Wheat dropped about four cents from yesterday's close today as the result of rumors that the Kaiser would inaugurate a new peace move. May dropped to below $1.17, the lowest level in several weeks. Other grains also fell on heavy selling.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 27.—Expectations that some new peace propositions would come from the German emperor today were used as incentives for general offerings of stocks at concessions at the opening today. Nearly all the important issues sustained losses ranging from one to two points in the first few minutes, but a good demand was met at the low levels and at the end of the first half hour trading brisk rallies were in order. Marine Common declined two points to 29 and the preferred two points to 84 1/2. General Motor dropped 3 1/2 points to 118 1/2, and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies 1 1/2 to 115 1/2. The copper shares were fairly well held, with Utah Copper declining 5 1/2 to 106 1/2, and American Smelting 5 1/2 to 107 1/2. The railway issues generally showed fractional losses.

The market for Government bonds unchanged. Railway and other bonds strong. Another selling movement caused a recession in a number of issues in the last hour. Minneapolis and St. Louis continued strong, moving up to 32. Steel Common rallied slightly in the final dealings.

PETER BARMANN
BREWERY PHONE 66 KINGSTON

STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"Well that is what you call the passing of an old landmark," said the politician as he and his friend were standing outside the Mansion House on lower Broadway.

"What do you mean?" asked the friend.

"Look at the signs in the windows behind you," retorted the politician.

"H-m," remarked the friend after he had digested what the signs stated. "So they are going to change the old hotel into a wholesale liquor house?"

"Yes," replied the politician. "It was in our favorite paper some time ago that the old hotel had been sold to a concern in Highland Falls. I remember rightly."

"The Mansion House has had quite a history," remarked the friend reflectively.

"It certainly has," agreed the politician. "and it changed hands a few times last year at all right."

"Three different parties bought it at various intervals," said the friend in a questioning tone.

"I forget," replied the politician.

"If you want to hear the history of the old hotel," continued the politician, "you want to get some of the old-timers to talk, and have them tell you of the days when the hotel was in its glory, and when it was the point of departure for the old stage coach lines, and then later on in years when the old D. & H. canal was running full blast."

"I bet those were lively times," said the friend.

"That certainly were," replied the politician. "and it was during those years the Mansion House became famous from one end of the river to the other for its hospitality."

"Those were the good old days," commented the friend.

"And that was a good old hotel too in its day," retorted the politician.

"If the old building could only talk," said the friend.

"It could tell some great tales," added the politician, "for it was patronized by the select in the Hudson valley in its day, and many a famous personage of bygone days has passed under its roof tree."

Following a pause while the politician and his friend watched the workmen renovating the interior of the historic hotel the politician said:

"But like many other things the Mansion House has had its day, and as a hotel it will soon be but a memory of the past."

"Speaking of memories of the past," said the friend, "there is one thing I would surely like to be able to say that of."

"What's that?" queried the politician.

"The West Shore crossing on Broadway," returned the friend with vigor.

"I'm with you on that," said the politician.

"Do you think we will ever live to see it come to pass?" asked the friend.

"You may if you live long enough," retorted the politician with a smile.

"What does the expression mean to hit the trail?" asked the friend after a slight pause.

"What are you talking about, the services at the Delaware Avenue Tabernacle?" asked the politician.

"Yes," replied the friend. "I have been reading about how over a thousand have hit the trail."

"Why," explained the politician, "it is a slang expression made famous by Billy Sunday and it literally means coming back to God."

The politician continued. The way I understand it simply means that in case trail hikers are church members that they are not afraid to take a public stand."

"What about passing out cards for the trail hikers to sign?" asked the friend.

"That is done," explained the politician. "so that in case you are a church member your pastor knows you were not afraid to go forward in the tabernacle when the invitation was extended, and in case you are not a church member then if you signed the card stating you would like to attend a certain church that the pastor of that church gets the card with your address and calls to see you and asks you to come and attend service and help in the work of the church."

"Nothing unreasonable about that," commented the friend.

BOY BEAR HUNTER IN PIT WITH BEAR

Sullivan County Youth's Thrilling Experience in Falling Into Sandpit Alongside of Bruin--Killed Animal Which He Afterward Sold for $25.

Monticello, Jan. 27.--Coming so close to a big black bear that he could feel its warm breath in his face, Alex. King, on Saturday escaped uninjured from a sand pit into which man and bear plunged headlong when the side of a bank gave way. Both were completely buried under the snow and sand, but Bruin extricated himself first and was making off when King recovered his rifle and fired the fatal shot.

Young King, who boasts of having killed more bears than any other youth in this section, started out early on Saturday morning on a fresh track, and soon overtook the bear just as it disappeared from view over what looked to him like a small hill. Expecting to get a good shot from this point King rushed to where he realized his position the soft earth gave way, as it had with Bruin, and immediately both man and bear were fighting to free themselves from an avalanche of snow and sand.

Young King brought the bear to Monticello on Monday and found a ready market for the carcass in the person of D. B. Runsey, proprietor of Hotel Palm. Mr. Runsey turned over $25 in cash to the lad, who feels bigger than J. P. Morgan or most any other millionaire. Runsey is now causing invitations to be printed and sent out to his friends within a radius of 10 miles, to attend a bear steak supper at the Palm some night soon. On this occasion the well-known horseman will tender to his guests souvenirs in the form of a photograph taken of himself kugging the bear.

LINO-TYPE LIGHT O' LOVE.

Herbert L. Muth Left Ellenville and Wife.

The unusually unattractive appearance of The Press may be laid to the desertion, without notice, of our linotype operator, says the Ellenville Press. Last summer Herbert L. Muth was married to a young lady of Binghamton and the first of October he came here to run the Press linotype machine. He set up housekeeping in a very nice way over McMullen's news store and all seemed just as it ought to be. Thursday he and his wife took dinner with his parents and he came up street as they supposed to his work. Instead he went to his rooms, packed up his clothes, and left on the three o'clock train after trying to borrow money and saying he was going away. His young wife had no thought of such a thing until five o'clock when Herbert's step-father called at the Press office for him and found he had not been there. Then he returned home and told the girl wife, who went to her rooms to find her husband had taken his good clothes and left his working clothes behind. She is planning to dismantle her flat and will probably return to Binghamton, where she left a good home.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The world would be better and brighter if people were taught the duty of being happy as well as the happiness of doing their duty. To be happy ourselves is a most effective contribution to the happiness of others.--Sir John Lubbock.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

The following is mince meat which is easily made. Take one cupful of chopped cold meat, a half cupful of salt, two large apples, chopped fine; one cupful of raisins, one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of molasses, one-half of a cupful of suet, chopped; one-half cupful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of cloves, one of cinnamon and a cupful of canned fruit juice and a cupful of boiling water. Cook all together and cool before using. This makes three pies.

Potato Rolls.--To one cupful of hot, mashed potatoes add a fourth of a cupful of butter and the same amount of sugar, add a teaspoonful of salt, and a cupful of scalded milk. Cool until thick, then add two egg yolks, and a yeast cake, dissolved in a fourth of a cupful of water; beat well and add three-fourths of a cupful of flour, and let stand well covered where it will rise in about an hour. Add three or four more cupfuls of flour, knead well and set to rise until double its bulk. Shape into finger rolls, rise and bake in a moderate oven. This makes about three dozen small rolls.

Bermuda Salad.--Take a half cupful of thinly sliced Bermuda onions, dredge with salt and pepper, and pour over it two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a teaspoonful of sugar. Let stand to season. Cut one and a half cupfuls of cooked beets in narrow strips, mix with a French dressing, using three tablespoonfuls of oil and one of vinegar, add the drained onions. Let stand a few minutes, add water cress, well tossed in French dressing, and serve.

Chicken Pie.--Cook a four-pound chicken until very tender, after disjoining, and put into a deep baking dish, make a sauce of five cupfuls of chicken broth, three tablespoonfuls each of flour and butter, and pepper and salt to taste. Make a rich crust, put the chicken in the pan, pour over the sauce and a tablespoonful of scraped onion, cover with the crust, leaving a vent for the steam to escape. A short time before serving pour into the pie a half cupful of rich cream.

FREE PUBLIC MEETING ON MENTAL HYGIENE

Why So Many People Go Insane Will be Discussed Before Public Gathering in the Court House at Kingston on Friday Night, February 9. Public officials, physicians, social workers and citizens of Kingston and vicinity are interested in the free public meeting on mental hygiene which will be held in the court house at Kingston on Friday evening, February 9, under the auspices of the Committee on Mental Hygiene of the State Charities Aid Association, in co-operation with the Middletown State Hospital. The meeting will be free and everyone is invited. The programs are being widely distributed in advance.

Interesting facts as to the enormous prevalence of mental disorders and the organized efforts which are being made to prevent insanity will be discussed by competent speakers. Dr. Maurice C. Ashley, superintendent of the Middletown State Hospital, will deliver an address on "What the State is Doing for the Mentally Sick—Care and Prevention." Miss Mildred H. Hurley, social worker of the state hospital, will speak on "How the Community Can Help the Clinic." George A. Hastings, executive secretary of the committee on mental hygiene, will speak on "Why Should So Many Go Insane?"

Judge Jenkins to Preside. The Hon. James Jenkins, county judge of Ulster county, who is keenly interested in questions of public policy relating to the care of the insane and to dealing with mentally abnormal people who come in conflict with the law, will preside at the meeting.

The reason why 34,000, or one out of every 261 persons, are insane and under treatment in an institution in this state, will be interestingly explained by the speakers. The system of free dispensaries for the treatment of mental disorders which are now maintained by state hospitals in communities in all parts of the state will be discussed.

The Clinic in Kingston.

Special attention will be directed to the free clinic for the treatment of nervous and mental disorders which is maintained by the Middletown State Hospital in the office of the State Charities Aid Association, County Agent at 74 John street, Kingston. Sessions are held on the third Friday of each month from 1 to 4 p. m. The next session will be on February 16.

At this dispensary a specialist from the state hospital gives free diagnosis, advice and treatment in cases of nervous and mental disorders, especially in their earlier and milder stages. The clinic is part of a statewide effort to discover mental diseases in their earlier stages and treat them promptly. Insanity, like many physical diseases, is more curable in the early stages, and the clinics are considered a most promising preventive measure. Any person who desires a frank talk with a specialist about his or her own mental condition or the mental health of a friend or relative is invited to visit the clinic. Physicians, social workers and teachers are invited to bring or refer cases. Consultation, advice and treatment are free.

Public Invited to Meeting. The general public is cordially invited to the public meeting, for the co-operation of the public in the movement to prevent mental diseases is greatly needed. It is estimated that perhaps 40 per cent of the mental disease prevalent today might have been prevented. The extent to which it is preventable depends upon the extent to which the facts as to its nature, causes, extent and treatment are generally known and understood. The meeting in Kingston will afford an opportunity to learn these facts in an interesting way.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JAN. 27, 1917.

With a treasury deficit estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury at $379,000,000 for the year closing June 30, 1918, and with an omnibus building bill of record-breaking proportions, the caucus of House Democrats did the expected thing in approving the new Emergency Revenue bill, by which more than two hundred millions of dollars will be raised above the already great revenues now paid into the Federal treasury. Death offers no relief from the already heavy burden of taxation, as the inheritance tax field invaded by the government, in addition to the State taxes, is raised fifty per cent while "excess profits" of corporations and co-partnerships must pay at the rate of eight per cent on all such profits in excess of eight per cent. To use "preparedness" as a sugar coating for this nauseating pill will not make the swallowing act any more pleasant for already heavily burdened business. Chairman Kitchin (what a name for the head of the fat-frying Ways and Means Committee) lined up the insurgent Southern Democrats by the simple statement: "You can tell your people that practically all of this tax will go north of Mason and Dixon's line. The preparedness agitation has its hot-bed in such cities as New York. This bill levies a tax on those who have been clamoring for preparedness and are benefiting because of preparedness appropriations." The new preparedness is succeeded by the New Patriotism whose ideal is to pay new taxes with a minimum of grumbling, no matter how outrageous and unfair these may be. Taxes are getting to be like the messages of Presidents and Governors. When these came annually they were an event, but as they become more numerous, the people pay less and less attention and more money. The tax burden in the United States is, however, nearing the limit of harassed human endurance. Especially is this true of the North, where the greater share is borne.

"Peace without victory" is after all but a phrase, albeit suggestive of others such as "Peace Without Villa—Dead or Alive," "Peace as Paralyzed by a Washington Wrist-slapping Commission," "Peace Which Passes Understanding—and Pershing," all of which can boast an alliterative accuracy. Small wonder that the British press is unable to regard President Wilson's statement with any special degree of appreciation, an attitude reflected in the views of the British Premier, both before and after Mr. Wilson's appeal was made before the Senate. There is a sublime sarcasm in the reiteration by the British statesman of the words of Lincoln uttered on different occasions during the times that tried men's souls on this side of the Atlantic a half century ago. "We accepted this war for an object, a worthy object, and the war will end when that object is attained. Under God I hope it will never end until that time," is the quotation from Lincoln via Lloyd George. A correspondent of the Sun finds an even more apt expression from the message sent to Congress in 1864 in which Lincoln said: "In stating a single condition of peace, I mean simply to say that the war will cease on the part of the government whenever it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it." Is it only "a peace between equals" that can last?

Acceptance of Shadow Lawn as a Summer White House is the object of a resolution before Congress. The property would be given by citizens of Asbury Park, N. J., without cost to the government, but conditioned upon its permanent use as a Summer residence by the President. This veiled attempt to add the chief magistrate of the Nation to the attractions of the Jersey Coast during one season of the year is actually receiving serious consideration at Washington. We shudder to contemplate the number of little journeys that would be entailed upon the President should Congress accept this offer and other enterprising communities follow suit. Kingston might come to the front with the gift of a mountain peak and Summer home in the Catskills, similarly conditioned. The President's recent visit to Rhinecliff was a seven weeks' wonder of which the motion picture reproductions (with leading local Democrats censored out of the film) furnished an echo. Cornish, N. H., is sure to be

In the running if the generosity of Asbury Park meets with the sanction of Congress. In time every community anxious to advertise itself would follow this example and Summer White Houses would be as common as dirt all over the country. In sojourning in the same, the President would have an opportunity to get the popular sentiment at first hand on peace policies, pork and treasury deficits, the which could not but be of inestimable value to the present occupant of the White House.

WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH JESUS?

This is Question All Must Answer Says Evangelist Peacock—1,037 Have Hit Trail—Hot Sermon Tonight on Amusement.

The most important question in the world today that every one has to answer is that asked by Pilate almost two thousand years ago, "What shall I do with Jesus, who is called Christ?" asserted Evangelist L. K. Peacock taking that question as his text Friday evening at the Delaware Avenue Tabernacle. At the close of the service a brief prayer service in which a number took part was held. So far during the campaign 1,037 have expressed the intention to consecrate themselves to God.

Hot Shot Tonight.
This evening the evangelist has announced he would preach a red hot sermon on dances, card playing and other kindred amusements. The meeting is for every person.

Sunday Services.
There will be three services on Sunday at the tabernacle. At 10:30 in the morning preaching service for every person will be held; at 2:30 in the afternoon for men only; and at 7:30 for every person. Sunday afternoon a service for women only will be held in the Wurts Street Baptist Church in charge of Miss Speer.

A Question for You?
Friday evening the evangelist said that the question asked by Pilate was an important question when asked, and it was the most important question today for you to answer. What will you do with Jesus? Some people will do anything to defeat a cause they don't like. What we want today is not personal liberty, but personal license. We want to enjoy the things of the world, forgetting that we have to answer to God. With all our education, culture and money the United States is headed down the broad way of destruction simply because we are putting off the answer to the question "What shall we do with Jesus?"

Everyone Has to Answer.
Everyone in this world has the power to decide for themselves which cause they will follow. Are you lined up for God or the devil? There is no compromise, you are with one or the other.

That was an important question Pilate asked, and each one of you will have to answer it. You can't shelve it and then hope to enjoy eternal salvation. You have to decide before it is too late.

Moral Cowards.
The evangelist said he could have some sympathy with a physical coward but a moral coward he had no use for. There are many who are moral cowards, and are afraid to take a public stand for God because of their friends and what they will say. Millions of people are turning their backs upon the Lord. That is a mistake they will regret.

Sure You Don't.
Why is it that you never invite the minister to a card party or a dance? You never heard of a saloon keeper asking a minister to open his place of business with prayer, did you? Of course not, and you know the reason why; I don't have to tell you.

Too Late.
The evangelist told a story of two young people who had made all arrangements to be married and had set the date and engaged the minister. The minister was holding revival services and the young couple attended one night. The minister urged them to come forward and accept Christ. They refused for fear their friends would poke fun at them but said that after they were married they would come forward. The next day while skating they were drowned.

Don't Put It Off.
Don't put off accepting Christ as your Saviour, for no one knows what the next moment may bring forth. Accept him now. What will you do with Jesus?

1,037 Trail Hitters.
So far during the campaign 1,037 have hit the trail. This does not mean of course that all were not church members. It means that among that number were church members who consecrated themselves to God, those who had backslidden from the church, and those who had never accepted Christ before.

Those who have come forward during the campaign have signed cards stating if not a regular church member, what church they would prefer to attend. These cards are sorted out by a committee and each card is sent to the pastor of the church for which it is intended, irrespective of denomination or creed.

Tuesday Night at Tabernacle.
Tuesday evening Charles DeWitt Council, No. 91, J. O. U. A. M., will attend services at the tabernacle. The same evening Clinton Chapter and Kingston Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will attend in a body.

Colonial Rebekah Lodge, No. 481, I. O. E. F., will also attend that evening.
Women's Societies Elect Officers.
At the annual meeting of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Holy Spirit, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Frank Kline; vice president, Mrs. George N. Wood; secretary, Mrs. William Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. John C. Johnston.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Holy Spirit was held at the home of Mrs. G. N. Wood, and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. George N. Wood; vice president, Mrs. William Anderson; recording and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edmund Hathaway; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Purvis; educational secretary, Mrs. Francis Scott.

Circle of Mercy News.
While the workers on the surgical dressings, who meet with the Circles of Mercy have been considerably recruited since the holidays, there is need of still more workers, for the Thursday morning at the Y. M. C. A. And all such workers are asked to bring with them scissors and an apron to protect themselves from the rawings and cotton. Another need is that of old counterpanes—white. Any one having such an article to give to the Circles of Mercy is asked to communicate with the president, Mrs. Everett Fowler, or to send the same to the Y. M. C. A. next Thursday morning. Mrs. Fowler has asked that the women of Kingston be told that for the present at least, there will be no further need of the knitted eye bandages, according to word from headquarters.

Mission Study Class.
A mission study class has been organized by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Holy Spirit, and the initial meeting will be held Monday, January 29, at 3 p. m., at the Church of the Holy Spirit. The study periods will be conducted by Miss Ellen Flanders, diocesan educational secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary of New York Diocese. All members of the auxiliary of the three Episcopal Churches of Kingston are cordially invited to attend these meetings. Meetings will be held every Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock for six weeks, alternating at St. John's, Holy Cross and Holy Spirit Churches.

The John Wanamaker February Sale of FURNITURE

February prices are now marked on each piece and selections may be made in advance Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, three Courtesy Days, the transactions and deliveries to date from February 1.

More than a Million Dollars of Wanamaker Furniture Offered at 10 to 50 Per Cent. Less

All of our regular stock, which at the regular prices still marked on it, totals.....	$608,000.00
Special February Stock, purchased at large discounts from our regular manufacturers.....	438,000.00
Total.....	$1,046,000.00
To be sold during February for.....	742,000.00
A clear saving of.....	$303,340.00

NOTE—The above figures are for the New York Store alone. Duplicate stocks of equal magnitude are in our Philadelphia Store.

This is one of the two great furniture sales of the year.

February and August have become the great home-furnishing months.

People buy furniture in other months as they require it, but in February and August they buy it—even in advance of their immediate needs—because it is offered at the lowest prices of the year.

Greatest of All Sales

It is not disputed that the Wanamaker Stores in New York and Philadelphia distribute more furniture than any other retail institution in the United States.

It is not disputed that Wanamaker furniture so largely distributed is of the highest type, in carefully selected and seasoned woods, in skilled and uncheaper cabinet-making, and in designs which are always classical and therefore in good taste.

It is not disputed that the Wanamaker Stores own and present at all times the largest retail stocks of furniture.

It is not disputed that the Wanamaker sales of furniture have grown to be the largest of their kind in all the world.

The only point open to any possible question is a personal one for each individual: Will you, if you please, find here just the furniture you want at the price you wish to pay?

A Visit Will Answer This

Only a personal inspection of the furniture itself will answer this question.

Now and again we meet people who are surprised to learn that we have so extensive a business in furniture. They are amazed when we show them the huge stocks. "I wish I had known this before; we have been buying our furniture at the wrong place," they say.

Again people tell us: "Oh, I thought sale furniture was made for sales and cheapened in the making."

Much of it is, we answer. But not Wanamaker furniture.

There are Martha Washington sewing tables and gate-leg tables and other pieces of furniture made to meet Wanamaker prices and so cheapened in the making that they disgrace their names and their sellers. But such furniture is never found here.

We invite the critical inspection of the public of all parts of our furniture—inside and outside, parts usually unseen—inside of drawers, backs of chairs and sideboards, underneath of tables. Put everything to the closest scrutiny and it will stand the test.

A Word About the Future

It is not a yellow journal scare to say that furniture is going to cost more. It is costing more this minute—wholesale. Manufacturers are raising their prices all along the line. Within six months there have been several decided increases. More are expected, because everything that goes into the making of furniture, material and labor, is costing more.

Fortunately the great part of our regular stock is owned at low prices which have not here advanced. And the new purchases were made at large discounts for specific trade reasons.

From these old low prices the February reductions are made. If they were based on present wholesale prices they would be at least 25 per cent. greater.

BEDDING Also in Sale

50,000 pounds of pure South American horse-hair and other mattresses at large reductions, together with a flat discount of 10 per cent. on all regular stock.

$52 grade pure horsehair mattresses, $39

$46 grade pure horsehair mattresses, $35

$40 grade pure horsehair mattresses, $32

Also mixed hair mattresses at $17.50 and $25, for the $22 and $32 grade.

Felt mattresses, box-springs, wire springs, pillows, and all bedding at a flat discount of at least 10 per cent.

CHRISTMAS SEALS NETTED $1,838.51

Final Accounting Shows Goodly Sum For Tuberculosis Hospital—Dr. Dederer Succeeds Dr. Day as Secretary.

An important meeting of the executive council of Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis, was held Friday evening at the office of the secretary, Dr. Mary Gage-Day. At this meeting the final accounting was made in the 1916 Red Cross Christmas Seal sale. Dr. Day's resignation as secretary of the committee was received and accepted with regret and other business was transacted.

In the absence of the president the Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, the Rev. Father Briody, vice-president presided at the opening of the meeting. Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, as read by Dr. Day, the request of the visiting tuberculosis nurse, Miss Anna O'Shea, for a six weeks' leave of absence was received and acted upon in the following manner. The leave of absence was granted, and Miss O'Shea was given two weeks of that time with salary, as her rightful vacation in the year. Miss O'Shea finds her work of investigation and visiting can best be done in the spring, summer and fall months, hence the taking of the vacation at this time.

Dr. Day then made her report on the Christmas Seal sale as follows:

Total receipts $2,700.17

Total disbursements $81.66

Net receipts $1,838.51

This year, as last, the sale was largely a "sale by mail," and the local expenses of operating the sale, stamped envelopes, postage, etc., for the nearly 5,000 letters sent out and the sales here in the city, amounted to $21.63. Owing to several excellent reasons, the State Charities Aid Association, (Tuberculosis Branch), which conducted the statewide sale, was obliged to charge the various committees 20 per cent of the gross receipts, for the printing of the seals, advertising, etc., making for the Ulster county sale, the sum of $54.03, thus bringing up the total expenses to $81.66.

On the letters sent out containing one dollar's worth of seals, an average of 47 per cent were returned, in seals, and of 53 per cent in money. Again, out of the 5,000 letters only 10 have not been heard from at all, and it is hoped that those ten may yet be accounted for. It was moved and carried that all bills of the sale should be paid, and the remaining sum of $1,838.56 be transferred to the Tuberculosis Camp fund, as has been the custom. It was further voted that a note of thanks and sincere appreciation be sent to Messrs. Licander and Gentile, owners of the building at 571 Broadway, for their generous donation of the use of a room in that building for the carrying on of the Christmas Seal clerical work throughout the entire period of the sale. This closed the matter of the 1916 seal sale.

As Father Briody was obliged to leave the meeting, the Rev. Father Hickey presided in his place. The name of Dr. Ebbia A. Dederer was then accepted for membership in the Tuberculosis Prevention Committee.

Dr. Day formally resigned as secretary of the committee and her resignation was accepted with profound regret, the same to take effect on her departure from town. On motion of Mrs. C. N. Reed, the following resolution upon the departure of Dr. Day was accepted and ordered placed upon the records of the committee: "The Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis wishes to express its profound appreciation of Dr. Day's untiring efforts in behalf of every activity of the committee, looking toward the prevention and cure of tuberculosis, and also of her faithful performance of the, in this case, arduous duties of secretary of the committee. The committee deeply regrets her departure from Kingston, but in her going the committee, and especially the executive council, would have her take with her the best of their good wishes for the remainder of her life." Dr. Dederer was then elected secretary to assume office on the retirement of Dr. Day, and following her departure.

After the careful discussion of other matters relative to the work of the committee, the meeting adjourned.

Sugar Strike Causes Riot.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 27.—A "flying squad" of 60 strikers at the Havemeyer Sugar Refinery and about 500 employees who refused to walk out fought a battle with clubs and stones in the streets of Williamsburg today. After the fight eight men were picked up insensible, suffering from severe head wounds. The "flying squad" fell on the night shift men as they emerged from the factory. A squad of police, with swinging night sticks ended the fray.

Potato Strike in Beantown.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Jan. 27.—Boston's potato strike is on. Two thousand housewives rallying to the call for action made by their representatives at an enthusiastic meeting opened the strike today and voted to continue it until potatoes have been forced down from the present price of 70 cents a peck to 40 cents. An egg strike will probably be the next in line.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

Is there any way to repair a blown out casing which is otherwise far from worn out?

A rapid and very economical way to repair a blowout consists in simply lacing up the injured part with ordinary wire belt lacing. A good repair job can easily be done in about fifteen or twenty minutes, proceeding as follows: First, cut away the loose rubber around the blowout so you can extend the lacing one inch or so beyond each extremity of the "wound." Secondly, with a stout hatpin or a sharp nail punch a sufficient number of holes around the edges of the cut, being careful to get them equidistant, yet not too close together. Next lace up the cut with the wire lacing just as you would lace an ordinary belt, but in this case allow only one strand through each hole. Be also very careful to equalize as much as possible the tension of the wire strands. A double row of wire lacing (one over the other) will be much stronger than a single one. Finally place a piece of canvas, cardboard or leather inside of the casing over the laced part so the inner tube cannot be injured. You have then a repaired tire that you can again depend upon for a good many miles.

It stands to reason that wire belt lacing that is capable of lacing up a 100 horsepower belt should equally well answer the purpose of lacing up tire fabric. The scheme favors greatly the cars equipped with demountable rims or wheels. The last ounce of possible use can be handily extracted out of an injured tire, whether the blowout is premature or not.

It is essential that the wire lacing employed should be of the best wire lacing obtainable, which has not only an enormous tensile strength, but which possesses also a remarkable amount of resistance to torsion and flexion. These qualities make it admirably suitable for repairing a blowout in a prompt and economical manner. An ordinary coil of belt lacing costs but 25 cents and is simply sufficient to repair from ten to fifteen blowouts, according to the size of the tire. Every motorist before starting on a long, hard trip should not fail to take along a coil of belt lacing, an ordinary awl and a strong piece of canvas. Thus equipped, his chances of getting home on a bare rim are reduced to a minimum.

Would grinding the cylinders and cylinder head of an engine make gas-tight fits without a gasket?

Yes, if the grinding was done accurately enough. Gaskets are as satisfactory, with much less machining cost. Furthermore, in replacing the head after once having removed it great care would have to be taken to be sure that the surfaces were clean. The gaskets also serve well to take up any warping which may occur in the metal.

Is there any electric system which can be run with the battery off without disconnecting the generator? If so, how can it be done?

A great many systems may be run with the battery off and current taken from the generator, but in none of them is it a safe proposition. The battery takes care of the generator current, as it is intended, and without this outlet for current it is very likely that the generator will suffer.

I am having trouble with my motor overheating. It steams when driven eight or ten miles. Would too much oil cause this, as it smokes at the exhaust?

The use of too much oil for any length of time will cause carbon to deposit on the piston and cylinder head and thus cause the motor to heat. If oiling is evident and loss of power, then treat the motor as one badly carbonized. However, the heating may be due to other things besides carbon. The motor should not be operated with the spark retarded too far, and the brakes should not drag. The water system must, of course, be free from obstructions. If the pistons are poorly fitted or the rings worn excessively the oil will work up into the combustion chamber, deposit carbon and cause heating. Try to do as little intermediate and low gear work as possible.

What is meant by casehardening?

Casehardening refers to a process of producing a hard coating of metal over a piece of steel. The process consists of heating the metal and then lightly sprinkling potassium cyanide over it while it is hot. This causes an action between the metal and the cyanide which is very hard. This case or coating has good wearing qualities and protects the inner metal, which is softer and acts as a cushion for the case. Aside from the cyanide mentioned above, charcoal is used or charcoal mixed with barium carbonate.

My motor block is broken so as to be apparently beyond repair. Can anything be done?

Before giving up the cylinder casting you should take it to a good welder and have it gone over. Many an apparently hopeless job has been repaired by the welding process.

A man believed to be a burglar was arrested in New York and in his possession was found a map giving the situation and description of numerous country residences of prominent New Yorkers. If not a burglar, then perhaps a social climber?

Enforcing Peace.

"How did you become involved in a fight with that little Jones boy?" demanded the stern father. "Why, we had a small argument," responded the youthful Thomas. "And then I told him I would not accept my terms of peace. I was going to black his other eye."

An Arab Custom.

The Arabian head-dress is really a Manchester table cover folded diagonally. The Arabs do not take their headcloth off when they enter a house. They uncover their feet instead. The Arabs do a number of other things contrary to our custom. They shave their heads but not their faces. When they beckon to a person to come to them, they do not turn their fingers upwards as we do. No, they turn them down, and then the Arab knows that he is wanted.

TO AUTO OWNERS —AND THE— Public Generally

An attempt to create the impression that with the exception of one dealer in auto supplies, all dealers in this city and all garage owners are indulging in sharp practice, are taking advantage of their customers and are only negatively honest, would seem to be the aim of a news item that appeared in the Kingston Freeman on Thursday evening.

The assertion is made in this item that the price of gasoline had been advanced by the local dealers (with the exception of the one mentioned) to the consumer, while the dealer had stocked up on the product at the lower price and was making an extra profit by not selling the stock on hand at the old price.

This places an entirely erroneous construction on the selling of gasoline. It is to be remembered that prices of every product and commodity, whether gasoline, or leather, or dry goods, or food supplies, is not fixed altogether on the price the article has cost the retailer, but on what price he will be obliged to pay for a similar article that he must procure to replace in his stock the article sold.

Every retailer must carry a stock of goods on hand. If he has bought this stock of goods when the price was low, then has the price advanced on him, he is still obliged to carry his stock and consequently as goods are sold from his stock, he must replace the goods sold by purchasing other goods at the higher price. To sell a bolt of dress goods for less money than he would be obliged to pay for another to take its place in stock would be fundamentally wrong from every viewpoint of a sane business man. It should not require very much thought to convince any man of this fact.

Auto supply houses and garages that carry and sell gasoline must increase the price of the product, when the price is increased in the wholesale market, because they must replace every gallon sold and at the prevailing or higher price. And they always must have a stock on hand.

On the other hand, it is to be borne in mind that when the price of gasoline drops, the dealer must sell at the lower or reduced price the stock he has on hand and which he bought at the higher price.

Again in relation to the matter of tires. The Freeman item says that this one auto supply house which it mentions has a large stock of tires on hand which will be sold at the prices that prevailed prior to the recent advance in price.

Explaining this we would call attention to the fact that high class tires cannot be bought "on speculation" for the purpose of holding for an advance in price. Inferior tires may be so bought. Tires that are not standardized may be bought. Seconds may be bought and held or sold as the retailer sees fit. If an automobile owner is content to buy old tires, tires having rubber not "live," tires that are seconds or tires that are not standardized, he may, of course, procure them at lower prices at any time and at any place at lower prices than he would have to pay for the first class article. But he should not in reason expect the same service from such tire as if he had bought a good reliable tire of standard make, a tire that the manufacturer stands back of and seeks to control until it reaches the hands of the user and that is guaranteed as far as any tire can be guaranteed. Common sense is all that need be brought to bear to have this situation understood.

We have no desire to interfere with any man in the conduct of his business whether in the selling of automobiles, gasoline, tires or anything else. We are, however, jealous of our own reputations for business integrity and fair dealing, and we resent the imputation that, with the exception of one man singled out in our line of business in the news item referred to, all others are inclined to be dishonest or stand ready to take advantage of customers.

Some Watchdog.

There is a watchdog in a New York town who ought to be placed on charity parcel. An obnoxious beggar there who had been tolerated by the residents because of his paralyzed condition, was caught stealing by the dog, chased six blocks and finally forced to climb a tree. One good thing about canine investigators into the reality of human suffering is that they are guided strictly by the facts in the case and are not troubled by any sentimentality.

More Than Enough.

A matronly lady asked one younger in years why she did not require of her companion to teach her French. To which interrogation the other replied that one tongue was enough for any lady.

Adds to the Difficulties.

Another thing that upsets the equilibrium of the situation is that there are so many men who would rather spend ten hours at night trying to win $1.45 at poker than to spend eight hours a day working for a $10 note.

Just So It's Beefsteak.

Paul, who lived in the country, where at his house pork is the predominant meat throughout the year, had gone to the city to visit his aunt. Thinking, of course, she must have things he liked best to eat, she asked him what kind of meat she should get for dinner, and Paul's reply was, "I don't care, aunty, whether it is horse or cow, just so it is beefsteak."

Porto Rico a Gem.

Horticulturally Porto Rico is a gem, also ideal in all ways. The island is nearly a rectangle 35 miles wide and 100 miles long, of great fertility, great beauty and a healthful and almost perfect climate. Although the population is 320 to the square mile nearly all are engaged in horticulture. The chief crops are citrus fruits, coffee, coconuts, pineapples, bananas and many other tropical fruits.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

Despite the fact other places in this vicinity are selling gasoline for 25 cents a gallon, the Newburgh dealers are selling the fuel for a cent less. The Standard and Texas Companies recently advanced the wholesale price from 21 to 24 cents a gallon, and the local garage men simply pushed their selling price forward three cents. The indications are that "gas" will go still higher. To date this has been the greatest winter for the garage men, and is in contrast to last year. The price of 27 cents a gallon for gasoline in general throughout the city. None of the local dealers, it is said, had any great supply of "gas" on hand and contracted for when the advance from 21 to 24 cents came.—Newburgh News.

CHILD WELFARE EXHIBIT MONDAY

The Child Welfare Exhibit which is to be shown in this city under the patronage of the Federation of Women's Clubs will open in the Cordts building on Wall street next the court house on Monday of next week. This is an exhibit prepared by the national welfare committee and will be orally explained by Miss Wilkie, field secretary of the committee. Some of the things which will be made plain to those attending the exhibit will be the relation of children engaged in unsupervised work, especially street boys, to juvenile crime. New York state has better child labor laws than the United States will be shown. There will be an answer given to the question, "If we take care to improve our live stock, why not to improve the human race?" Several persons have asked why this exhibit is being brought to Kingston since there is no serious case of child labor to be found in this community. Is there any likelihood that in the coal mine districts, or the southern cotton mill sections, or in those states which allow children quarantined for infantile paralysis to make powder puffs for sale, that there will be enacted any legislation protecting the child, since the child labor is so cheap? Naturally, unless strong pressure is brought to bear, and the children of this land should be considered "our" children by every family in the country, and cared for by those who have their interests at heart. That is the prime reason for the exhibit in Kingston.

For Annual in Advance.....$2.00
For Month.....$1.00
Ten Cents Per Week.

Entered as Second-class matter at the post office at Kingston, N. Y., July 1, 1879, under No. 100,000, authorized by act of Congress, October 3, 1878, approved October 3, 1878, and with an omnibus building bill of record-breaking proportions, the caucus of House Democrats did the expected thing in approving the new Emergency Revenue bill, by which more than two hundred millions of dollars will be raised above the already great revenues now paid into the Federal treasury. Death offers no relief from the already heavy burden of taxation, as the inheritance tax field invaded by the government, in addition to the State taxes, has raised fifty per cent while "excess profits" of corporations and co-partnerships must pay at the rate of eight per cent on all such profits in excess of eight per cent. To use "preparedness" as a sugar coating for this nauseating pill will not make the swallowing act any more pleasant for already heavily burdened business. Chairman Kitchin (what a name for the head of the fat-frying Ways and Means Committee) lined up the insurgent Southern Democrats by the simple statement, "You can tell your people that practically all of this tax will go north of Mason and Dixon's line. The preparedness agitation has its hot-bed in such cities as New York. This bill levies a tax on those who have been clamoring for preparedness and are benefiting because of preparedness appropriations." The new preparedness is succeeded by the New Patriotism whose ideal is to pay new taxes with a minimum of grumbling, no matter how outrageous and unfair these may be. Taxes are getting to be like the messages of Presidents and Governors. When these came annually they were an event, but as they become more numerous, the people pay less and less attention and more money. The tax burden in the United States is, however, nearing the limit of harassed human endurance. Especially is this true of the North, where the greater share is borne.

"Peace without victory" is after all but a phrase, albeit suggestive of others such as "Peace Without Villa—Dead or Alive," "Peace as Paralyzed by a Washington Wrist-slapping Commission," "Peace Which Passes Understanding—and Perishing," all of which can boast an alliterative accuracy. Small wonder that the British press is unable to regard President Wilson's statement with any special degree of appreciation, an attitude reflected in the views of the British Premier, both before and after Mr. Wilson's appeal was made before the Senate. There is a sublime sarcasm in the retort by the British statesman of the words of Lincoln uttered on different occasions during the times that tried men's souls on this side of the Atlantic a half century ago. "We accepted this war for an object, a worthy object, and the war will end when that object is attained. Under God I hope it will never end until that time." Is the quotation from Lincoln via Lloyd George. A correspondent of the Sun finds an even more apt expression from the message sent to Congress in 1864 in which Lincoln said: "In stating a single condition of peace, I mean simply to say that the war will cease on the part of the government whenever it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it." Is it only "a peace between equals" that can last?

Acceptance of Shadow Lawn as a Summer White House is the object of a resolution before congress. The property would be given by citizens of Ashbury Park, N. J., without cost to the government, but conditioned upon its permanent use as a Summer residence by the President. This veiled attempt to add the chief magistrate of the Nation to the attractions of the Jersey Coast during one season of the year is actually receiving serious consideration at Washington. We shudder to contemplate the number of little journeys that would be entailed upon the President, should congress accept this offer and other enterprising communities follow suit. Kingston might come to the front with the gift of a mountain peak and Summer home in the Catskills, similarly conditioned. The President's recent visit to Rhinecliff was a serene weeks' wonder of which the motion picture reproductions (with leading local Democrats censored out of the film) furnished an echo. Corbish, N. H., is sure to be

In the running if the generosity of Ashbury Park meets with the sanction of congress. In time every community anxious to advertise itself would follow this example and Summer White Houses would be as common as dirt all over the country. In sojourning in the same, the President would have an opportunity to get the popular sentiment at first hand on peace policies, pork and treasury deficits, the which could not but be of inestimable value to the present occupant of the White House.

"BILL" DITTUS GOES TO HUDSON

"Bill" Dittus, the best semi-professional basketball player this city has ever produced, has landed a berth with the Hudson team of the New York State Basketball League. During the early part of the season, the local star was playing around Jersey City, playing independent ball against such well known men as Beckman, Roach, Henschel and Harvey.

Jumping center Thursday evening against the Scranton All-Stars, the Crescent star made nine points for the Ale City team. A remarkable showing, being that he played out of his position as a forward. On the Hudson are such seasoned players as McKinstry, Phillips, Callahan, Nugent and Houghton. All these men have at some time played on the local court.

In their account of the game the Hudson Republican has the following to say about the Kingston player:

Hudson showed a new man in the line-up—Dittus by name. He hails from Ulster county and has been playing with the Mercury five of Kingston. Dittus had some trouble holding his feet but showed a remarkable eye for shooting. Nugent was put back at guard to give the new man a show and played one half there while Houghton played the other. After playing a few games with the local team, the Kingston man should work to perfection. A man that can shoot was just the player the Hudson quintet needed.

ULSTER DISTRICT PROMISES TO PAY

Bill for Tuition for Two Terms Due, But One Installment is Promised in a Few Days—Rotarians to Give Lecture.

The failure of School District No. 8 of the town of Ulster, which was formed from that part of the town of Ulster formerly comprised within the old Kingston School District, to pay its tuition bill to the board of education was discussed by the board at its regular monthly meeting Friday evening, and assurance was given by Trustee D. G. Atkins, who is attorney for the district, that a settlement had been made with the surety company which was surety on the former collector's bond, and the arrears, now amounting to $584.97, would be paid next Wednesday on Thursday. By Monday, however, the district will owe the board of education in excess of $500 more for the terms which ended Friday night. Trustee Atkins said the investigation of the shortage in the accounts of the collector had been proceeding slowly and it had been necessary for Mr. Cure, the trustee, to visit every taxpayer in the district and examine their tax receipts for two years. The attorney for the surety company had visited his office recently and only a few details were left before settlement would be made.

Trustee Virgil B. Van Wageningen, chairman of the finance committee, who brought the matter to the attention of the board, said the matter had been in the hands of the corporation counsel for some time but up to Thursday he had taken no action on behalf of the board. Mr. Van Wageningen expressed the opinion that hereafter there should be prompt payment by District No. 8, and the bills should not be allowed to run.

Rotary Club to Give Lecture.
A communication from the Rotary Club asked permission to use the high school auditorium on February 28th, for a lecture on forestry to be given by a member of the New York College of Forestry. No admission will be charged. Permission was granted on the usual conditions.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day Resigns.
The resignation of Dr. Mary Gage-Day as medical inspector of the schools, due to the fact that she intends soon to leave town for Ithaca, where she will make her future home, was received and on motion of Trustee Atkins was accepted. The matter of filling the vacancy will be taken up by the teachers' committee which will report next month.

Trustee Atkins offered a resolution, which was adopted, referring the matter of filling vacancies in the teaching force to the teachers' committee with power.

Pay Roll and Bills Audited.
The finance committee reported the January pay roll, amounting to $10,942.09, and audited bills amounting to $1,983.26, which on motion of Trustee Van Wageningen were ordered paid.

Superintendent Michael called attention to the fact that the manual training department had practically exhausted its supply of hardware, and that additional supplies would be needed later, the total cost of which would not exceed $50. The matter of their purchase was referred to the supply committee with power.

Liability Insurance for Janitors.
President Gill brought up the matter of liability insurance for janitors. The matter had been discussed last year and referred to the building committee, which had not reported. The liability act had been amended, and it had been held that if janitors were injured while removing snow, ice or ashes, the board would be liable. On motion of Trustee Van Wageningen the matter was referred to the building committee to report at the next meeting.

President Gill appointed Trustees Atkins, Flemming and Dederick as members of the visiting committee for February.

The board then adjourned.

WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH JESUS?

This is Question all Must Answer Says Evangelist Peacock—1,037 Have Hit Trail—Hot Sermon Tonight on Amusements.

The most important question in the world today that every one has to answer is that asked by Pilate almost two thousand years ago, "What shall I do with Jesus, who is called Christ?" asserted Evangelist L. K. Peacock taking that question as his text Friday evening at the Delaware Avenue Tabernacle. At the close of the service a brief prayer service in which a number took part was held. So far during the campaign 1,037 have expressed the intention to consecrate themselves to God.

Hot Shot Tonight.
This evening the evangelist has announced he would preach a red hot sermon on dances, card playing and other kindred amusements. The meeting is for every person.

Sunday Services.
There will be three services on Sunday at the tabernacle. At 10:30 in the morning preaching service for every person will be held; at 2:30 in the afternoon for men only; and at 7:30 for every person. Sunday afternoon a service for women only will be held in the Wurts Street Baptist Church in charge of Miss Spear.

A Question for You?
Friday evening the evangelist said that the question asked by Pilate was an important question when asked, and it was the most important question today for you to answer. "What will you do with Jesus?" Some people will do anything to defeat a cause they don't like. What we want today is not personal liberty, but personal license. We want to enjoy the things of the world, forgetting that we have to answer to God. With all our education, culture and money the United States is headed down the broad way of destruction simply because we are putting off the answer to the question "What shall we do with Jesus?"

Everyone Has to Answer.
Everyone in this world has the power to decide for themselves which cause they will follow. Are you lined up for God or the devil? There is no compromise, you are with one or the other. That was an important question Pilate asked, and each one of you will have to answer it. You can't shelve it and then hope to enjoy eternal salvation. You have to decide before it is too late.

Moral Cowards.
The evangelist said he could have some sympathy with a physical coward but a moral coward he had no use for. There are many who are moral cowards, and are afraid to take a public stand for God because of their friends and what they will say. Millions of people are turning their backs upon the Lord. That is a mistake they will regret.

Sure You Don't.
Why is it that you never invite the minister to a card party or a dance? You never heard of a saloon keeper asking a minister to open his place of business with prayer, did you? Of course not, and you know the reason why; I don't have to tell you.

Too Late.
The evangelist told a story of two young people who had made all arrangements to be married and had set the date and engaged the minister. The minister was holding several services that night. The minister urged them to come forward and accept Christ. They refused for fear their friends would poke fun at them but said that after they were married they would come forward. The next day while skating they were drowned.

Don't Put It Off.
Don't put off accepting Christ as your Savior, for no one knows what the next moment may bring forth. Accept him now. What will you do with Jesus?

1,037 Trail Hitters.
So far during the campaign 1,037 have hit the trail. This does not mean of course that all were not church members. It means that among that number were church members who had backslidden from the church, and those who had never accepted Christ before.

Those who have come forward during the campaign have signed cards stating, if not a regular church member, what church they would prefer to attend. These cards are sorted out by a committee and each card is sent to the pastor of the church for which it is intended, irrespective of denomination or creed.

Circle of Mercy News.

While the workers on the surgical dressings, who meet with the Circle of Mercy have been considerably recruited since the holidays, there is need of still more workers, for the Thursday morning at the Y. M. C. A. And all such workers are asked to bring with them scissors and an apron to protect themselves from the rivellings and cotton. Another need is that of old counterpanes—white. Any one having such an article to give to the Circle of Mercy is asked to communicate with the president, Mrs. Everett Fowler, or to send the same to the Y. M. C. A. next Thursday morning. Mrs. Fowler has asked that the women of Kingston be told that for the present at least, there will be no further need of the knitted eye bandages, according to word from headquarters.

A clear saving of.....	$303,340.00

NOTE—The above figures are for the New York Store alone. Duplicate stocks of equal magnitude are in our Philadelphia Store.

This is one of the two great furniture sales of the year.

February and August have become the great home-furnishing months.

People buy furniture in other months as they require it, but in February and August they buy it—even in advance of their immediate needs—because it is offered at the lowest prices of the year.

Greatest of All Sales

It is not disputed that the Wanamaker Stores in New York and Philadelphia distribute more furniture than any other retail institution in the United States.

It is not disputed that Wanamaker furniture so largely distributed is of the highest type, in carefully selected and seasoned woods, in skilled and uncheapered cabinet-making, and in designs which are always classical and therefore in good taste.

It is not disputed that the Wanamaker Stores own and present at all times the largest retail stocks of furniture.

It is not disputed that the Wanamaker sales of furniture have grown to be the largest of their kind in all the world.

The only point open to any possible question is a personal one for each individual: Will you, if you please, find here just the furniture you want at the price you wish to pay?

A Visit Will Answer This

Only a personal inspection of the furniture itself will answer this question.

Now and again we meet people who are surprised to learn that we have so extensive a business in furniture. They are amazed when we show them the huge stocks. "I wish I had known this before; we have been buying our furniture at the wrong place," they say.

Again people tell us: "Oh, I thought sale furniture was made for sales and cheapened in the making."

Much of it is, we answer. But not Wanamaker furniture.

There are Martha Washington sewing tables and gate-leg tables and other pieces of furniture made to meet Wanamaker prices and so cheapened in the making that they disgrace their names and their sellers. But such furniture is never found here.

We invite the critical inspection of the public of all parts of our furniture—inside and outside, parts usually unseen—inside of drawers, backs of chairs and sideboards, underneath of tables. Put everything to the closest scrutiny and it will stand the test.

A Word About the Future

It is not a yellow journal scare to say that furniture is going to cost more. It is costing more this minute—wholesale. Manufacturers are raising their prices all along the line. Within six months there have been several decided increases. More are expected, because everything that goes into the making of furniture, material and labor, is costing more.

Fortunately the great part of our regular stock is owned at low prices which have not here advanced. And the new purchases were made at large discounts for specific trade reasons.

From these old low prices the February reductions are made. If they were based on present wholesale prices they would be at least 15 per cent. greater.

BEDDING Also in Sale

50,000 pounds of pure South American horse-hair and other mattresses at large reductions, together with a flat discount of 10 per cent. on all regular stock.

$52 grade pure horsehair mattresses, $39
$46 grade pure horsehair mattresses, $35
$40 grade pure horsehair mattresses, $32

Also mixed hair mattresses at $17.50 and $25, for the $22 and $32 grade.

Felt mattresses, box-springs, wire springs, pillows, and all bedding at a flat discount of at least 10 per cent.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

Is there any way to repair a blown out casing which is otherwise far from worn out?

A rapid and very economical way to repair a blowout consists in simply lacing up the injured part with ordinary wire belt lacing. A good repair job can easily be done in about fifteen or twenty minutes, proceeding as follows: First cut away the loose rubber around the blowout so you can extend the lacing one inch or so beyond each extremity of the wound. Secondly, with a stout needle or a sharp nail punch a sufficient number of holes around the edges of the cut being care to get their equidistant, not too close together. Next lace up the cut with the wire lacing just as you would lace an ordinary belt but in this case allow only one strand through each hole. Be also very careful to equalize as much as possible the tension of the wire strands. A double row of wire lacing (one over the other) will be much stronger than a single one. Third, place a piece of canvas, cardboard or leather inside of the casing, over the lacing so the lacing will not be injured. You have then a repaired tire that you can again depend upon for a good many miles.

It stands to reason that wire lacing, that is capable of lacing up a 100 horsepower belt should equally well answer the purpose of lacing up a tire. The scheme favors greatly the car equipped with inner tube tires or wheels. The last one of these possible uses can be hardly extra cost of an injured tire, whether the blowout is premature or not.

It is essential that the wire lacing employed should be of the best wire lacing, heat-treated which not only has enormous tensile strength but which possesses also a remarkable amount of resistance to corrosion and flexion. These qualities make it an ideal material for repairing a blowout in a prompt and economical manner. An ordinary oil of 10 being six to eight cents and is simply sufficient to replace from ten to fifteen blows according to the size of the tire. Every motorist before starting on a long hard trip should not fail to take along a roll of lacing, an inner tube and a strong piece of canvas. This equipped his car is of getting home on a bare rim reduced to a minimum.

Would grinding the cylinders and cylinder head of an engine make gas tight fit without a gasket?

Yes, if the grinding was done as a patchy enough. Gaskets are really made with much less machining, and furthermore in replacing the head after once having run with it, the surfaces were laced up with keys which serve well to take up any warping, which it may occur in the head.

Is there any electric system which can run the battery off without disconnecting the generator? If so how can it be done?

A great many systems may be run with the battery off and current taken from the generator but in none of them is it a safe proposition. The battery takes care of the generator current as it is intended and without this outlet for current it is very likely that the generator will suffer.

I am having trouble with my motor overheating. It steams when driven eight or ten miles. Would too much oil cause this as it smokes at the exhaust?

The use of too much oil for any length of time will cause a carbon deposit on the piston and valve. This will thus cause the motor to overheat. The motor should not be operated with the spark retarded too far and the brakes should not drag. The water system must of course be free from obstructions. If the pistons are poorly fitted or the rings worn excessively the oil will work up into the combustion chamber deposit carbon and cause overheating. Try to do as little intermediate and low gear work as possible.

What is meant by casehardening?

Casehardening refers to a process of producing a hard coating of metal over a piece of steel. The process consists of heating the metal and then immersing it in a solution of cyanide or other hardening material. This causes an action between the metal and the cyanide which is very hard. This case or coating has good wearing qualities and is used for the inner metal which is soft and acts as a cushion for the case. As for the cyanide mentioned above, cyanide is used or cyanide mixed with barium carbonate.

My motor block is broken so as to be apparently beyond repair. Can anything be done?

Before giving up the cylinder casting you should take it to a good welder and have it welded. It may be as simple as a job has been repaired by the welding process.

One or Two

A man I know of a burglar was arrested in New York and in his possession was found a map giving the location and description of numerous country residences of prominent New Yorkers. If not a burglar then perhaps a spy.

In descending a hill when the car is in high what is the safest way to slacken the speed should the car be going too fast?

If the hill is not too long and too steep release the clutch and apply the brakes—not vigorously enough to slide the wheels but just enough to retard the speed of the car. In unusual cases where a very long steep descent is encountered leave the clutch in and shut off the ignition. The motor will then help to brake. Do not use the brakes with the clutch engaged unless you find it absolutely necessary.

In shifting gears from low to second and from second to high what should be the approximate speed the car should travel as when the gears are shifted in most cases they seem to grind?

The grinding of the gears is probably not due to the speed at which you make the change from one gear to another but rather that you do not have the proper relation between the motor speed and drive shaft speed. When shifting from low to second speed up the car to about five miles per hour and make the change quickly. Then speed up to eight or ten miles per hour and change into high removing the foot from the accelerator also in this operation. Be then, to remember that the motor and drive shaft should be turning at very near the same speed when the change is made to high gear to avoid grinding of the gears and the fly wheel teeth. These things can be adjusted to let the motor idle down when progressing from one gear to another.

My engine runs nicely in the shop but as soon as I take it out the cylinder starts to misfire and have no power. Then when I release the clutch the engine starts to pick up one two and three cylinders and in a few seconds when the fourth starts to hit it races terribly. There is also a continuous drip from the bottom of the carburetor when standing still. What is the matter?

It is difficult to say where your trouble is but there are many possibilities. The wiring may be in poor condition and the insulation rotted so that short circuits are developed on the timing may not be correct. There may be a leak in the valve stems or in the points where the intake manifold is attached to the cylinder. There is also the likelihood that your ignition and carburetor are not in good condition. Make certain that the magneto gives a good spark at each plug that all parts are in adjustment all connections tight all insulation good and the switch free from loose parts and shut down.

It is said that the float chamber is flooding due to dirt under the needle valve in the needle valve gasket. The first one is cleaned out the second means that the valve must be ground by lapping it in its seat after applying some fine sand or grinding paste and the third by driving the float in an even and then shutlocking it. The leak in the carburetor would prevent a good adjustment from being obtained and it is possible that all the trouble lies right here. The flooding of the carburetor causes the collection of liquid fuel in the manifold so that when the throttle is opened a rich mixture is formed and the motor misfires.

The fact that the motor races when it does run on all four cylinders would indicate that the clutch was slipping due either to too much oil or a worn facing. In the former case an application of fuller's earth should be made and in the latter a new facing must be applied.

Can you tell me how to take dents out of fenders?

The fenders must be removed from the car. Shape one side of a block of wood to conform as closely as possible with the curve of the fender. The fender should be laid on a bench and the dents pounded out with the block of wood and a mallet or hammer.

Will you please tell me the method of finding the positive and negative poles of a storage battery which have no marking on them?

The easiest method to determine the poles of a battery when it is very near run down is to connect a short wire to each of the terminals and dip the ends of these wires into sulphuric acid. The negative terminal will cause the acid to bubble.

I have a small car of foreign design which steers very hard. The axle is sloped so that the bottom of the king bolt is behind the top. If I placed wedges under the springs so as to make the axle slope the other way would it tend to make steering less difficult? In turning a corner the wheels do not tend to come back into normal position but try to go as much off straight as possible. The wheels are lined up so that this is not the trouble. Possibly your hard steering is entirely due to the slope of the axle. Wedging it straight as suggested might remedy the trouble. In some cases the axle is a part of a steering arm and you are sure that the wheels are properly aligned?

No they turn them down and then the Arab knows that he is wanted.

More Than Enough

A man once asked one of our friends why she did not receive a letter from her corporation to teach her French in which in recognition the corporation had given her a tongue was enough for her.

Adds to the Difficulties

Another long story is the equalization of the situation in the case of a man who was a gambler. He spent ten hours at a game, trying to win $1.45 at poker than to spend eight hours a day working for a $10 wage.

TO AUTO OWNERS

—AND THE—

Public Generally

An attempt to create the impression that with the exception of one dealer in auto supplies all dealers in this city and all garage owners are indulging in sharp practices, are taking advantage of their customers and are only negatively honest, would seem to be the aim of a news item that appeared in the Kingston Freeman on Thursday evening.

The assertion is made in this item that the price of gasoline had been advanced by the local dealers (with the exception of the one mentioned) to the consumer, while the dealer had stocked up on the product at the lower price and was making an extra profit by not selling the stock on hand at the old price.

This places an entirely erroneous construction on the selling of gasoline. It is to be remembered that prices of every product and commodity, whether gasoline, oil, leather or dry goods or food supplies, is not fixed altogether on the price the article has cost the retailer, but on what price he will be obliged to pay for a similar article that he must procure to replace in his stock the article sold.

Every retailer must carry a stock of goods on hand. If he has bought this stock of goods when the price was low, then has the price advanced on him, he is still obliged to carry his stock and consequently as goods are sold from his stock, he must replace the goods sold by purchasing other goods at the higher price. To sell a bolt of dress goods for less money than he would be obliged to pay for another to take its place in stock would be fundamentally wrong from every view point of a sane business man. It should not require very much thought to convince any man of this fact.

Auto supply houses and garages that carry and sell gasoline must increase the price of the product, when the price is increased in the wholesale market, because they must replace every gallon sold and at the prevailing or higher price. And they always must have a stock on hand.

On the other hand, it is to be borne in mind that when the price of gasoline drops, the dealer must sell at the lower or reduced price the stock he has on hand and which he bought at the higher price.

Again in relation to the matter of tires. The Freeman item says that this one auto supply house which it mentions has a large stock of tires on hand which will be sold at the prices that prevailed prior to the recent advance in price.

Explaining this we would call attention to the fact that high class tires cannot be bought "on speculation" for the purpose of holding for an advance in price. Inferior tires may be so bought. Tires that are not standardized may be bought. Seconds may be bought and held or sold as the retailer sees fit. If an automobile owner is content to buy old tires, tires having rubber not "live" tires that are seconds or tires that are not standardized, he may, of course, procure them at lower prices at any time and at any place at lower prices than he would have to pay for the first class article. But he should not in reason expect the same service from such tires as if he had bought a good reliable tire of standard make, a tire that the manufacturer stands back of and seeks to control until it reaches the hands of the user and that is guaranteed as far as any tire can be guaranteed. Common sense is all that need be brought to bear to have this situation understood.

We have no desire to interfere with any man in the conduct of his business, whether in the selling of automobiles, gasoline, tires or anything else. We are, however, jealous of our own reputations for business integrity and fair dealing, and we resent the imputation that with the exception of one man singled out in our line of business in the news item referred to, all others are inclined to be dishonest or stand ready to take advantage of customers.

"BILL" DITTUS GOES TO HUDSON

"Bill" Dittus, the best semi-professional basketball player this city has ever produced, has landed a berth with the Hudson team of the New York State Basketball League. During the early part of the season, the local star was playing around Jersey City, playing independent ball against such well known men as Steekman, Roach, Henschel and Harvey.

Jumping center Thursday evening against the Scranton All-Stars, the Crescent star made nine points for the Hudson team. A remarkable showing, being that he played out of his position as a forward. On the Hudson are such seasoned players as McKinstry, Phillips, Callahan, Nugent and Houghton. All these men have at some time played on the local court.

In their account of the game the Hudson Republican has the following to say about the Kingston player:

Hudson showed a new man in the line-up—Dittus by name. He hails from Ulster county and has been playing with the Mercury five of Kingston. Dittus had some trouble holding his feet but showed a remarkable eye for shooting. Nugent was put back at guard to give the new man a show and played one half there while Houghton played the other. After playing a few games with the local team, the Kingston man should work to perfection. A man that can shoot was just the player the Hudson quintet needed.

ULSTER DISTRICT PROMISES TO PAY

BHJ for Tuition for Two Terms Due, But One Installment is Promised in a Few Days—Rotarians to Give Lecture.

The failure of School District No. 8 of the town of Ulster, which was formed from that part of the town of Ulster formerly comprised within the old Kingston School District, to pay its tuition bill to the board of education was discussed by the board at its regular monthly meeting Friday evening, and assurance was given by Trustee D. G. Atkins, who is attorney for the district, that a settlement had been made with the surety company which was surety on the former collector's bond, and the arrears, now amounting to $584.27, would be paid next Wednesday or Thursday. By Monday, however, the district will owe the board of education in excess of $500 more for the terms which ended Friday night.

Trustee Atkins said the investigation of the shortage in the accounts of the collector had been proceeding slowly and it had been necessary for Mr. Cure, the trustee, to visit every taxpayer in the district and examine their tax receipts for two years. The attorney for the surety company had visited his office recently and only a few details were left before settlement would be made.

Trustee Virgil B. Van Wagoner, chairman of the finance committee, who brought the matter to the attention of the board, said the matter had been in the hands of the corporation counsel for some time but up to Thursday he had taken no action on behalf of the board. Mr. Van Wagoner expressed the opinion that hereafter there should be prompt payment by District No. 8, and the bills should not be allowed to run.

Rotary Club to Give Lecture.
A communication from the Rotary Club asked permission to use the high school auditorium on February 28th, for a lecture on forestry to be given by a member of the New York College of Forestry. No admission will be charged. Permission was granted on the usual conditions.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day Resigns.

The resignation of Dr. Mary Gage-Day as medical inspector of the schools, due to the fact that she intends soon to leave town for Ithaca, where she will make her future home, was received and on motion of Trustee Atkins was accepted. The matter of filling the vacancy will be taken up by the teachers' committee, which will report next month.

Trustee Atkins offered a resolution, which was adopted, referring the matter of filling vacancies in the teaching force to the teachers' committee with power.

Pay Roll and Bills Audited.

The finance committee reported the January pay roll, amounting to $10,912.09, and audited bills amounting to $1,383.26, which on motion of Trustee Van Wagoner were ordered paid.

Superintendent Michael called attention to the fact that the manual training department had practically exhausted its supply of hardware; certain supplies were needed immediately and additional supplies would be needed later, the total cost of which would not exceed $50. The matter of their purchase was referred to the supply committee with power.

Liability Insurance for Janitors.

President Gill brought up the matter of liability insurance for janitors. The matter had been discussed last year and referred to the building committee, which had not reported. The liability act had been amended, and it had been held that if janitors were injured while removing snow, ice or ashes, the board would be liable. On motion of Trustee Van Wagoner the matter was referred to the building committee to report at the next meeting.

President Gill appointed Trustees Atkins, Flemming and Dederick as members of the visiting committee for February.

The board then adjourned. Members present were: President Gill and Trustees Flemming, Atkins, Van Wagoner, Dederick and Schaefer. The absentees were Trustees Kearney, Hale and Washburn.

Unbreakable Windows.

Repeated coats of raw or boiled linseed oil applied to a newly meshed wire fabric will give a good substitute for window glass. The wire may be used for many purposes, and is especially good where glass might easily be broken. The fabric may be dipped in the oil instead of applying it with a brush.

McCormack's new song of a lover
Tito Mattei, an Italian composer of lovely songs, has provided John McCormack with the melodic viololo he employs this month for the display of his fine voice and his finer understanding. "The Song of a Lover" is the song McCormack sings; being the plaintive protest of a lover upon discovering that love is fickle. This admirable artist adapts himself with rare appreciation to the song's mood, and sings the smooth-flowing melody of its plaint with great appeal of voice and spirit.

Culp's gifted art in "Passing By"
In the singing of a song like this one the sheer beauty of Julia Culp's voice, and the sincerity, earnestness and quaint simplicity of her art, are indeed irresistible. "Passing By" is a charming song from the pen of the English composer, Edward Purcell. The melody is as tender as the words, the indescribable essence of which is contained in the closing lines, "But change the earth, or change the sky, Yet will I love her till I die." You owe it to your love of music to hear Culp sing this song.
